

CNT- Assignment-7

classmate

Date _____

Page _____

1) Telnet protocol can be used to access files of Remote machine. Justify,

i) Telnet is an application protocol that allow a user to communicate with a remote device.

ii) A user on a client machine can use a software to access a command line interface of another remote machine which is running a telnet program.

iii) Telnet is often used by network administrators to access and manage network devices.

iv) A network administrator can access the device by telnetting to IP address or hostname of a remote device.

v) The ability for network and server administration tasks to remotely manage devices on the network.